

U. S. GIVES ITS SANCTION TO BASEBALL

Gen. March Says There's No Reason Why Game Should Not Be Resumed in Spring.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Uncle Sam must have his baseball. The great national game is to be resumed in the spring, according to Gen. March, chief of staff of the army, who was among those who declared nonresumption during the world war. The general said that the game is essential, and must be resumed in the spring.

Gen. March, chief of staff of the army, who was among those who declared nonresumption during the world war, is the man behind the gun in bringing the game back. Gen. March was consulted by John Johnson, president of the American League, relative to operating next season.

"The war department closed up down last September, and the baseball game was suspended. It was only proper that the department should be consulted in regard to its plans for the future. Consequently I put the entire situation before Gen. March for his approval."

Gen. March's reply to the American League executive follows:

"I have your letter of Nov. 30 concerning the resumption of baseball next year, and would advise you that the war department, under present conditions, has no objection to the game being resumed in the spring. The game should not be resumed in accordance with the usual regular schedule. It is possible to make up for service in the United States, who number some 1,700,000, and are returning from the front. The game should be resumed in the spring, and the number of men which is only limited by the shipping at our disposal."

"Unless there are some changes in the situation, which now seem impossible, there is no reason to believe why the great national game should not be resumed in the spring. The game should be resumed in the spring, and the number of men which is only limited by the shipping at our disposal."

Stars Coming Back.

President Johnson understands that the stars of baseball who joined the service, among them Ty Cobb, Benji Evers, Hank Gowdy and others, will be among the first to receive their discharges, so they will be able to join the club on the spring training trip. Cobb is a captain in a chemical division now in France.

Definite plans for the resumption of the game will be launched at the annual meeting of the major leagues this month. The National Association will meet in New York on Dec. 10, and the American League, in all probability, will convene in Chicago two days later.

Johnson said he did not believe there would be a joint session of the two leagues, although the National League has requested it. Committees from the two organizations, together with a committee from the National Association, will meet on the spring training trip. If minor leagues, probably will meet soon after the sessions of the major leagues to settle a number of questions of policy confronting them.

The minor leagues, at their annual convention in New York, will also elect a number of officers and also draft their star players and also draft a number of other reforms.

AVIATORS TAKE UP BASKETBALL

Park Field Officers Organize Team and Start Play.

Now that the football season is over, the Park field aviators are taking to basketball, and already a crack team is being organized. The officers at the Millington flying station, among the officers on the team are: Eugene, Dow, Yeoman, Lowry, Brown, Young, Hall, Potts, Moody and Farnham.

The team is being coached by Lieut. Alperin, an old basketball player, who is thoroughly familiar with the game, and who is expected to lead the team. The first game on the schedule of the aviators is slated for Friday night, when they will go over to Jonesboro, Ark., to play the Y. M. C. A. team there. From Jonesboro they will move over to the Camp Pike basketball team Saturday night. They will return to Memphis Sunday.

In addition to this officers' team, there will be several other good teams, as the enlisted men are taking to the game with a rush, and several good games are promised. A number of contests will be staged between the officers and the enlisted men, and competition is certain to result.

SOLDIERS TO STAGE BIG ATHLETIC MEET

Finals of Contest To Be Held in Paris, France.

AMERICAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Dec. 5. (By the Associated Press.)—Plans are under way in the army for the most extensive series of athletic contests ever held. The series is to terminate in a great international military Olympic meet. While yet tentative, the plans have been approved by American commanders-in-chief, and the finals of the contests will be held in Paris, if possible.

The plans provide for competitive games, such as track and field sports, shooting, matches and the like. The contests will be held by platoons and progress through companies to regiments, brigades, divisions and army corps, and to the army as a whole.

When completed, the program will embrace events for every branch of the service, such as basketball, football, tennis, machine gun organizations, the artillery, trench mortar and other branches, and between platoons and companies of infantry.

The army will be assisted by the athletic trainers of the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus, and other organizations in rallying out the men for the track and field events. The American events will be confined to the American soldiers, but British, French, Belgian and Italian soldiers will be asked to meet the Americans in the finals of other events.

An after-the-war suggestion: An exhibition at the Art Institute of the various works of big league ball players who have become painters.

"OKEH" the new FORM-FIT COLLAR 25 CENTS EACH CLOUTY, PEABODY & Co. Inc. Makers

HERMAN CROHN Licensed Pawnbroker, lends money on everything in value. Offered and known place in the city. Have been for over 25 years at same stand.

108 Beale Avenue.

PARK FIELD FOOTBALL ELEVEN DISBANDED AS PLAYERS SCATTER

Won One Game and Lost Two to Show for 1918 Season's Record.

BY BOB PIGUE.

Football activities at Park field aviation station, which were the main feature of the winter and approaching summer, the eleven representing the aviators has disbanded, the players are scattering and all that is left of the team is memories.

After a season which proved disastrous it was decided by the commanding officer to disband, as many men were being discharged, some of the stars were injured and unable to play, and other circumstances combined to make it advisable to bring the season to a close as far as Park field is concerned.

The first two stars to go were Eicher and Twiford, two of the strong centers in the Park field machine, they having received their discharges from the service and returning to their respective homes. Others had been discharged, and the team was disbanded.

The first two stars to go were Eicher and Twiford, two of the strong centers in the Park field machine, they having received their discharges from the service and returning to their respective homes. Others had been discharged, and the team was disbanded.

Had Bright Prospects.

The Park field team started out with the brightest prospects in the world, with an aggregation of men who had formerly played on big Eastern eleven and others who had played on Southern teams. The material was there and there was no question about it. But getting results was something else again.

The secret of the whole affair is that the boys were never able to develop anything like team work, which is absolutely necessary for a successful football team. They worked their heads off, they fought like wildcats in every game, but somehow they were absolutely unable to develop a punch. And there's the trouble when it comes to the punch.

It had been planned to play games on Christmas, but owing to the circumstances it has been decided to discontinue further football activities. The suits have been turned in, the ball put away and the goal posts have been removed. Football is only a memory at Park field.

ing a bandanna handkerchief in front of a dyspeptic bill.

The National League is going to meet next week to elect a president and to arrange for the 1919 season. John Johnson, president of the American League, looks like the one best bet for president of the old organization, because John says he doesn't want it.

The modest violet is not the favorite flower of some baseball magnates.

EARLY DISCHARGES.

Now that Uncle Sam has notified the baseball heads that he favors baseball next season, it is reasonable to believe that the discharge of some of the best players who have been in the service will be coming shortly.

Without those players now in the service baseball will be hard put to operate next season. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Bringing Up Father By George McManus

TWO CATCHERS SHARE LIMELIGHT IN A. L.; O'NEILL AND SCHALK REAL WAR HORSES

Won One Game and Lost Two to Show for 1918 Season's Record.

BY BOB PIGUE.

Football activities at Park field aviation station, which were the main feature of the winter and approaching summer, the eleven representing the aviators has disbanded, the players are scattering and all that is left of the team is memories.

After a season which proved disastrous it was decided by the commanding officer to disband, as many men were being discharged, some of the stars were injured and unable to play, and other circumstances combined to make it advisable to bring the season to a close as far as Park field is concerned.

The first two stars to go were Eicher and Twiford, two of the strong centers in the Park field machine, they having received their discharges from the service and returning to their respective homes. Others had been discharged, and the team was disbanded.

Had Bright Prospects.

The Park field team started out with the brightest prospects in the world, with an aggregation of men who had formerly played on big Eastern eleven and others who had played on Southern teams. The material was there and there was no question about it. But getting results was something else again.

The secret of the whole affair is that the boys were never able to develop anything like team work, which is absolutely necessary for a successful football team. They worked their heads off, they fought like wildcats in every game, but somehow they were absolutely unable to develop a punch. And there's the trouble when it comes to the punch.

It had been planned to play games on Christmas, but owing to the circumstances it has been decided to discontinue further football activities. The suits have been turned in, the ball put away and the goal posts have been removed. Football is only a memory at Park field.

ing a bandanna handkerchief in front of a dyspeptic bill.

The National League is going to meet next week to elect a president and to arrange for the 1919 season. John Johnson, president of the American League, looks like the one best bet for president of the old organization, because John says he doesn't want it.

The modest violet is not the favorite flower of some baseball magnates.

EARLY DISCHARGES.

Now that Uncle Sam has notified the baseball heads that he favors baseball next season, it is reasonable to believe that the discharge of some of the best players who have been in the service will be coming shortly.

Without those players now in the service baseball will be hard put to operate next season. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Won One Game and Lost Two to Show for 1918 Season's Record.

BY BOB PIGUE.

Football activities at Park field aviation station, which were the main feature of the winter and approaching summer, the eleven representing the aviators has disbanded, the players are scattering and all that is left of the team is memories.

After a season which proved disastrous it was decided by the commanding officer to disband, as many men were being discharged, some of the stars were injured and unable to play, and other circumstances combined to make it advisable to bring the season to a close as far as Park field is concerned.

The first two stars to go were Eicher and Twiford, two of the strong centers in the Park field machine, they having received their discharges from the service and returning to their respective homes. Others had been discharged, and the team was disbanded.

Had Bright Prospects.

The Park field team started out with the brightest prospects in the world, with an aggregation of men who had formerly played on big Eastern eleven and others who had played on Southern teams. The material was there and there was no question about it. But getting results was something else again.

The secret of the whole affair is that the boys were never able to develop anything like team work, which is absolutely necessary for a successful football team. They worked their heads off, they fought like wildcats in every game, but somehow they were absolutely unable to develop a punch. And there's the trouble when it comes to the punch.

It had been planned to play games on Christmas, but owing to the circumstances it has been decided to discontinue further football activities. The suits have been turned in, the ball put away and the goal posts have been removed. Football is only a memory at Park field.

ing a bandanna handkerchief in front of a dyspeptic bill.

The National League is going to meet next week to elect a president and to arrange for the 1919 season. John Johnson, president of the American League, looks like the one best bet for president of the old organization, because John says he doesn't want it.

The modest violet is not the favorite flower of some baseball magnates.

EARLY DISCHARGES.

Now that Uncle Sam has notified the baseball heads that he favors baseball next season, it is reasonable to believe that the discharge of some of the best players who have been in the service will be coming shortly.

Without those players now in the service baseball will be hard put to operate next season. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Won One Game and Lost Two to Show for 1918 Season's Record.

BY BOB PIGUE.

Football activities at Park field aviation station, which were the main feature of the winter and approaching summer, the eleven representing the aviators has disbanded, the players are scattering and all that is left of the team is memories.

After a season which proved disastrous it was decided by the commanding officer to disband, as many men were being discharged, some of the stars were injured and unable to play, and other circumstances combined to make it advisable to bring the season to a close as far as Park field is concerned.

The first two stars to go were Eicher and Twiford, two of the strong centers in the Park field machine, they having received their discharges from the service and returning to their respective homes. Others had been discharged, and the team was disbanded.

Had Bright Prospects.

The Park field team started out with the brightest prospects in the world, with an aggregation of men who had formerly played on big Eastern eleven and others who had played on Southern teams. The material was there and there was no question about it. But getting results was something else again.

The secret of the whole affair is that the boys were never able to develop anything like team work, which is absolutely necessary for a successful football team. They worked their heads off, they fought like wildcats in every game, but somehow they were absolutely unable to develop a punch. And there's the trouble when it comes to the punch.

It had been planned to play games on Christmas, but owing to the circumstances it has been decided to discontinue further football activities. The suits have been turned in, the ball put away and the goal posts have been removed. Football is only a memory at Park field.

ing a bandanna handkerchief in front of a dyspeptic bill.

The National League is going to meet next week to elect a president and to arrange for the 1919 season. John Johnson, president of the American League, looks like the one best bet for president of the old organization, because John says he doesn't want it.

The modest violet is not the favorite flower of some baseball magnates.

EARLY DISCHARGES.

Now that Uncle Sam has notified the baseball heads that he favors baseball next season, it is reasonable to believe that the discharge of some of the best players who have been in the service will be coming shortly.

Without those players now in the service baseball will be hard put to operate next season. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

Baseball will be in a bad way. Many are already on their way home, and the team will be in a bad way.

PERMANENT ARMY PLANS POSTPONED FOR PEACE MEET

Baker Says Military Needs of Nation Cannot Be Prudently Assessed Until World Status Is Known Definitely.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The question of permanent organization of the army has been postponed until after the peace conference, according to Gen. Baker, chief of staff of the army.

Gen. Baker, chief of staff of the army, who was among those who declared nonresumption during the world war, is the man behind the gun in bringing the game back. Gen. March was consulted by John Johnson, president of the American League, relative to operating next season.

"The war department closed up down last September, and the baseball game was suspended. It was only proper that the department should be consulted in regard to its plans for the future. Consequently I put the entire situation before Gen. March for his approval."

Gen. March's reply to the American League executive follows:

"I have your letter of Nov. 30 concerning the resumption of baseball next year, and would advise you that the war department, under present conditions, has no objection to the game being resumed in the spring. The game should not be resumed in accordance with the usual regular schedule. It is possible to make up for service in the United States, who number some 1,700,000, and are returning from the front. The game should be resumed in the spring, and the number of men which is only limited by the shipping at our disposal."

Unless there are some changes in the situation, which now seem impossible, there is no reason to believe why the great national game should not be resumed in the spring. The game should be resumed in the spring, and the number of men which is only limited by the shipping at our disposal."

Stars Coming Back.

President Johnson understands that the stars of baseball who joined the service, among them Ty Cobb, Benji Evers, Hank Gowdy and others, will be among the first to receive their discharges, so they will be able to join the club on the spring training trip. Cobb is a captain in a chemical division now in France.

Definite plans for the resumption of the game will be launched at the annual meeting of the major leagues this month. The National Association will meet in New York on Dec. 10, and the American League, in all probability, will convene in Chicago two days later.

Johnson said he did not believe there would be a joint session of the two leagues, although the National League has requested it. Committees from the two organizations, together with a committee from the National Association, will meet on the spring training trip. If minor leagues, probably will meet soon after the sessions of the major leagues to settle a number of questions of policy confronting them.

The minor leagues, at their annual convention in New York, will also elect a number of officers and also draft their star players and also draft a number of other reforms.

AVIATORS TAKE UP BASKETBALL

Park Field Officers Organize Team and Start Play.

Now that the football season is over, the Park field aviators are taking to basketball, and already a crack team is being organized. The officers at the Millington flying station, among the officers on the team are: Eugene, Dow, Yeoman, Lowry, Brown, Young, Hall, Potts, Moody and Farnham.

The team is being coached by Lieut. Alperin, an old basketball player, who is thoroughly familiar with the game, and who is expected to lead the team. The first game on the schedule of the aviators is slated for Friday night, when they will go over to Jonesboro, Ark., to play the Y. M. C. A. team there. From Jonesboro they will move over to the Camp Pike basketball team Saturday night. They will return to Memphis Sunday.

In addition to this officers' team, there will be several other good teams, as the enlisted men are taking to the game with a rush, and several good games are promised. A number of contests will be staged between the officers and the enlisted men, and competition is certain to result.

SOLDIERS TO STAGE BIG ATHLETIC MEET

Finals of Contest To Be Held in Paris, France.

AMERICAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Dec. 5. (By the Associated Press.)—Plans are under way in the army for the most extensive series of athletic contests ever held. The series is to terminate in a great international military Olympic meet. While yet tentative, the plans have been approved by American commanders-in-chief, and the finals of the contests will be held in Paris, if possible.

The plans provide for competitive games, such as track and field sports, shooting, matches and the like. The contests will be held by platoons and progress through companies to regiments, brigades, divisions and army corps, and to the army as a whole.

When completed, the program will embrace events for every branch of the service, such as basketball, football, tennis, machine gun organizations, the artillery, trench mortar and other branches, and between platoons and companies of infantry.

The army will be assisted by the athletic trainers of the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus, and other organizations in rallying out the men for the track and field events. The American events will be confined to the American soldiers, but British, French, Belgian and Italian soldiers will be asked to meet the Americans in the finals of other events.

An after-the-war suggestion: An exhibition at the Art Institute of the various works of big league ball players who have become painters.

"OKEH" the new FORM-FIT COLLAR 25 CENTS EACH CLOUTY, PEABODY & Co. Inc. Makers

HERMAN CROHN Licensed Pawnbroker, lends money on everything in value. Offered and known place in the city. Have been for over 25 years at same stand.

108 Beale Avenue.

TWO CATCHERS SHARE LIMELIGHT IN A. L.; O'NEILL AND SCHALK REAL WAR HORSES

Won One Game and Lost Two to Show for 1918 Season's Record.